

Our World's Future

For sixty years I've mainly focused on healing and spiritually evolving and helping others and the world do the same. I was personal assistant to and worked very closely for five years with Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, Founder of Transcendental Meditation, and studied and worked with four other teachers. I facilitate and teach six healing modalities, four of which came to me, and teach three meditations, all of which came to me. I've worked with thousands of people worldwide, studied and utilized modalities from eight esoteric world traditions and been facilitating, teaching, reading, seeking and finding all my life. But until The Ringing Cedars of Russia books found me in July of 2019, I knew I was missing the most important pieces.

For me, these ten books contain more precious knowledge, wisdom and practical application for saving the human race and our planetary ecology than everything else available in the world combined. Many people are incapable of appreciating them. They can't sufficiently expand their understanding of what we humans are capable of and dismiss them out of hand. But for the tens of millions of us who have truly grokked them, they're a total game changer.

My greater life purpose is to work towards the future detailed in these books, let people know of them as I can, move towards acquiring my own Kin's Domain and a larger piece of land for a Kin's Domain settlement and prepare to be reborn to a truly wonderful Slavic couple already living on their own Motherland in such a settlement. For more, see The Hope of the World at mark-landau.com. Twice, twelve years apart, Edgar Cayce said, "The hope of the world will come out of Russia". For twenty-eight years these books have been enrapturing and enlightening souls. And as a result of them, hundreds of thousands of people have been blessing Mother Earth with more and more space of love, garden of Eden, fully sustaining paradise oasis communities, first and foremost in the Russian-speaking world and more recently worldwide.
